FE            Fernando Eiffler

FE        If you want to have an international career you can do it. If you want to have a local career you can do it, the regional. You have a lot of different things for you to decide where to go. And of course that is working in conjunction, you and the company, where the company sees that you can put your potential, and of course, your own desire where to go with your career. And Unilever offers that.
